Dear Ed,

Re: Chamber Music at the Tempe Center for the Arts, Special Ticket Prices

Hayden's Ferry Chamber Music Series opens October 25th with the Paris based Hermès String Quartet, 2012 winners of Young Concert Artists International Auditions. The series introduces the audience to young musicians who have won major prizes and helps launch them on their careers. It also presents well known musicians who are often playing together for the first time, such as 21st century American music champion Ursula Oppens and Tchaikovsky gold medal cellist Nathaniel Rosen. They will be playing the Elliot Carter Cello Sonata on November 22.

I include a poster for your classroom and bookmarks for your students as well as a recent Wall Street Journal review featuring Ursula Oppens performing at Tanglewood. The Sunday afternoon series continues in the TCA Gallery. A reception follows where everyone can meet the artists. Students pay $10 and parents and staff pay the series package price of $20, reduced from $25. Call the TCA Box Office on 480-350-2822 for the least expensive ticketing fee of $1. On line, the best way is to click on the "Buy Tickets" button on my website below, for a $3 ticketing fee. Adults accompanying students must quote "charter school" to get the $20 ticket price.

I look forward to seeing you and your students at the concerts. Surrounded by art in an intimate setting, these young audience members will become the next generation to support chamber music. I hope to make the experience fun and wonderful for them and make them want to keep listening and supporting the arts.

Sincerely yours,

Hello to you and Louise!
